Coming Next Summer!

Money Skills for Teens

An interactive workshop designed specifically to help teens develop strong money management skills.

Build a solid foundation for your teen and help them prepare for long-term financial success and a brighter future!

Given the significant spending power of today's teenagers and their future earning potential, it is imperative to develop strong money management skills early in life. This interactive workshop provides the processes for how and why money is used, and the path for starting a sound financial plan.

Topics include:
- How to identify and prioritize money management goals
- Developing a budget that can help maximize your money
- Investment primer and how your money can work for you
- Understanding credit and the cost/risk of using credit, including college loans
- How to protect assets once they begin to accumulate

Instructor-led, Online supported
Combining instructor-led classroom sessions on the UCLA Campus with online tools and resources, students learn key personal finance concepts and knowledge. The course also provides segments on career building and the key life skills needed for the next generation of workers. Students are encouraged to bring their laptops to class. Internet access is required to access course materials outside of the classroom.

What Our Students Say:
- “It was informative and enjoyable."
- “This course is absolutely amazing and has helped me understand the importance of personal finance and guided me to manage my money and future.”
- “Overall this course taught me a lot of things I never would’ve learned and I really enjoyed it.”

Additional Information Contact:
Mr. Sam Gomez
Email: sgomez@uclaextension.edu
Phone: (310) 825-4938

To learn more about our financial literacy courses visit:
[ uclaextension.edu/financial-lit ]

49% of teens are 'eager' to learn more about money management. Only 14% had taken a class on a financial literacy topic.

- According to the CalCPA Institute